Austin, Tex., Nov. 20.-The commission to-day amended commodity tariff No. 3 by making a rate of 11½ cents on lumber from all points on the Trinity and Sabine railroad to Tyler. Circular No. 41, issued to-day and effective December 1, fixes a rate of $10 per car on crude cotton seed oil in tanks between Honey Grove and Paris. tanks between Honey Grove and Paris, Tex. It was busy to-day preparing a table fixing a division of rates on lumber between the Houston and Texas Central and the Fort Worth and Denver roads, so as to break the dead-lock between them and move the fifty cars of lumber now standing on the track at Fort Worth. The commis-sion's decision will be issued to-morrow in the form of a circular, in which the basis employed for the decision is to allot to each line, as its factor, the local rates as pre-scribed by commodity tariff No. 3, with its conditions and exceptions, and then to make the division of the through rate proportion ate to such factors. In other words, it is a revenue pro rata.

Rate War Immment. CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 20 .- It looks as if the beace existing in the trans-Missouri territory since the organization of the Western traffic association is to be broken by a rate traftic association is to be broken by a rate war. The action of ex-President Moffatt of the Denver and Rio Grande in diverting to the Union Pacific the immense ore ship-ments from mines in which he is interested has struck a blow that falls heavily on the Atchison, which connects with Rio Grande, and it now se that President Manyel's trip Denver was for the purpose of ooking into the situation and ascertaining whether anything could be done to recover Denver the lost traffic. Advices are to the effect that the quarrel can hardly be settled ex-cept by a war. Strong efforts will be made, however, by parties interested in the success of the Western traffic association to prevent a disturbance. To this end it is said the question of forming a traffic pool like that now in force at Southwestern Missouri river points will again be agitated. Such a division of busi-ness would no doubt be satisfactory to all the roads except the Union Pacific, but the latter would only go into it under the con-dition that it were allowed the hon's share of the traffic, and it is doubtful if any agreement could be reached as to perce ages.

The people have beheld with growing alarm the continual advance of conditions which every day have carried us farther and farther away from the principles and traditions of the republic founders of the republic and nearer and nearer to the abyss on which we can see only separation of the crushing oli-archy or the dreadful alternative of revparchy or the dreadful alternative of revolution and anarchy. San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 20.—The water of the Rio Grande, after ten days' shrouding of the relies of the assassin's strokes, has given up its dead. A week ago there came to its surface the bloated corpses of two tall, well-proportioned men, whose clothing showed they were well-to-do. Their breasts gaped with many strokes of the knife. Decomposition was so far adthe knife. Decomposition was so far advanced that the mother who gave them birth could not recognize her offspring. A terrible siash of the knife had disemboweled each. One floated to the surface at the Penntas ranch, aff-teen miles above Edinburgh, Hiedler county, and was buried on the river bank as unknown. The other arose at Edinburgh and received a like burial. and received affice outrail.

Some weeks before two brothers, Severo and Jose Castallo, living at the Charco Escondido (hidden pole) ranch were drafted into the army by Gen. Garcia as guards for his regulars as in emergencies like that caused by Catarino Garza's invasion.

The above ranch is thirty miles south of Reynosa, Mexico. These brothers were born in Refuero county, Tex., sons of Jose Castillo, who was an old settler there. Some years ago they and their mother re-moved to Reynosa, Mex. Days passed and neither verbal nor written message came from the boys. The old mother waited in Reynoss. Her anxiety intensified as time went by intensified as time went by. They no longer rode with Gen. Garcia's regulars. The relatives and friends feared the worst. When the news came of the two hastily made graves on the Texas side her heart told her that there her boys lay. In size and form they were her sons, but the river and the grave had so marked their features as to leave them unknown oven to the mother's loving and searching eyes. When asked if their bodies bore no marks she stated that Jose's right leg below the knee carried a ball from the accidental discharge of a pistol, which by the rapid strokes of the surgeon's knife was quickly found, the encircled bullet making the identification com-plete, as did the clothing of the other brother, and now they rest in Campo Santa at Reynosa. The Mexican authorities assert from the manner of the death, the out as the victims of private revenge. the other hand it is strongly asserted that they died under military order, the victims of revolutionary suspicion. The following reasons are given to support this theory. It is alleged they were last seen alive with the government troops. Last summer El Libre Pensador, Catarina Garza's paper, contained a number of letters purporting to have been written by Garaa from various points in Mexico from Camargo to Matamoras, and in one he de-tailed the kindly reciprocation he met with from Severo Castillo at the Charco Escondido ranch. These letters were penned while the editor and revolutionist Garcia was safely seated in his office in Texas, as no safety scatter in this office in Texas, as no one believes he made the tour along the Mexican side of the Rio Grande descubed in his bombastic letters. It is believed this imaginary hospitable welcome by Severo Castillo made him a revolutionary suspect and caused the military manner of execution to leve the deal at the dear of a private meany. lay the deed at the door of a private enemy. The death of the brothers has caused in-tense excitement on both sides of the river, as they were prominent men at Reynosa, waelthy and with hosts of friends. It cannot be learned that they had ever given up their American citizenship, and the secretary of state will be asked to investigate.

The Verdict.

Special to the Gazette. Special to the Gazette.

Paris, Tex., Nov. 20.—The jury in the Bill Hudgins case was only out about four hours and returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment. The charge is that of murdering Willie Carey, at Fred, L. T., on September 30, 1890. The penalty will be death. There is no chance of a new trial being granted here, and hardly any possibility of the verylist he, and hardly any possibility of the verylist he. no chance of a new trial being grained nero, and hardly any possibility of the verdict be-ing reversed by a higher court. Hudgins has been previously convicted for robbery and horse theft, but the verdict to-day was more than his hardihood could bear up under. Hudgins is believed by the officers to be the man who murdered the operator at Wharton, on the Santa Fe, in the Cherokee Strip, and also to have killed an old German, whom a rival claimant wanted off an Oklahoma claim, but being confident of his conviction in the Carey ase, they have never worked up the others. Gin Accident at Thackerville.

Special to the Cazette. THACKERVILLE, I. T., Nov. 19 .- Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Sam Beardin, who works in the gin of Wells & Bridges, was accidentally caught in the saws and his right arm badly mangled, making ampu-tation necessary. He had a very narrow escape, as a few more turns of the machin-ery would have killed him almost instantly. The same gin stand cut off an arm for man two years ago. Cotton is coming in very slowly. Pickers are scarce at any price.
